The Human Quilt

By Mattie Wright

(Used with permission, from Poems of Southern Faith, copyright 2007)

Like pieces of quilt, we're put together,
As beautiful as can be,
Designed by grace,
Each in his place,
Drawn so tightly.

God is the maker of this quilt,
No one but He knows how to put each piece
In its proper place,
Each having its proper space,
As beautiful as can be.

Let us do our job
To warm the human race
With the beauty that
He has made in His masterpiece,
Each complete as it ought to be.

Let us warm the world
With the cover of our love,
The God-made quilt.